

My testimony of Christ's protection in this experience of being a targeted individual has become a test of time, where one, myself, cannot cheat the examination. The witness of the Holy Spirit in my life has brought about a profound truth in being even more contemporaneous with Christ. Christ desires to bring me closer to God's will for my life everyday. My testing by going through this experience encompasses the full human experience of what it is to struggle as God's true purpose for His chosen. This is the struggle that I have learned to give true rejoicing to in God who is the shepherd who never stops going after every last one that is His. Christ has protected me by: showing me, warning me, abiding with me, encouraging me, all while being the truth for me. In this, repentance has turned to rejoicing, and rejoicing has found the narrow road of return. My Lord and Savior Jesus Christ is why I'm here today. The foundation of Christ is found in his word, and in it exists the power of the Holy Spirit. The person of the Holy Spirit gives me constant direction and protection from the devices of the enemy. Through all the attacks; from differing dream states to constant awakenings during the night, run-ins' in public with domestic perpetrators, street theater, electro magnetic frequency radiation overload from neighbors and satellites, brain scans from cell phones, noise disturbances, spying, and vilifying associations of my person, I look back at Jesus Christ of History, and see that he was a targeted individual too.

Kevin M.